Topic: "Law Enforcement Use of Force"

June 22, 2004 • 3:30-5:00 PM ET

LIVE from the 2004 National Community Policing Conference

Hosted by U.S. Department of Justice Office of Community Oriented Policing Services (COPS) and in partnership with the National Urban League and other associations.

WHAT IS THE COPS OFFICE WEBCAST PROGRAM?

This FREE webcast (similar to a TV show) is for people who are unable to attend the conference in person, but are interested in learning about this very important topic. The program will feature a discussion by law enforcement, government, media and community leaders exchanging views regarding the use of force by law enforcement in a community policing context.

WHO SHOULD WATCH?

- Command and patrol level law enforcement professionals
- Community and faith-based leaders, groups and members
 - State, tribal and local government executives
 - Criminal justice professionals and educators
